Understanding Insurance

WHAT IS INSURANCE?

It's easy to be overwhelmed by insurance terms or even to be unsure about how it works. Even ordinary words like premium, coverage, or liability can take on slightly different meanings in an insurance context.

No one likes to think about accidents and calamities. Insurance provides you with a safety net, a way of recovering from catastrophes and/or events that may impact your assets (such as your home or vehicle).

HERE IS HOW IT WORKS

By collecting small contributions from you and fellow insureds, a pool of common funds is created. It is from that common funds pool that money is pulled to pay those who suffer losses. Insurance is founded on the simple idea that by spreading costs related to unforeseen or accidental events or losses among a large group of people, you can offer financial security and assistance to individuals, making it very affordable.

WHY BUY INSURANCE?

Life is unpredictable. We face various risks daily - risks to our health, property, possessions, etc. In the event that you are exposed to any of these risks, insurance helps you to recover faster.

Consider these two critical benefits of having insurance.

We don't know whether something unfortunate will happen to us, or when, or if we can afford these financial hardships. The ability to transfer your losses is another major reason to buy insurance.

Insurance is a promise to pay should a loss occur. This promise is not only verbal, but it is a contract to provide financial security to you.

THE INSURANCE CONTRACT

The policy is a legal contract between you and us for the period of insurance set out. The contract is based on the information you provided when you applied for the insurance or when you update at renewal.

OUR RESPONSIBILITY AS INSURERS IS TO:

1. Provide cover for each item which is shown on the Policy Schedule
2. Pay valid claims/compensate you against all insurable losses

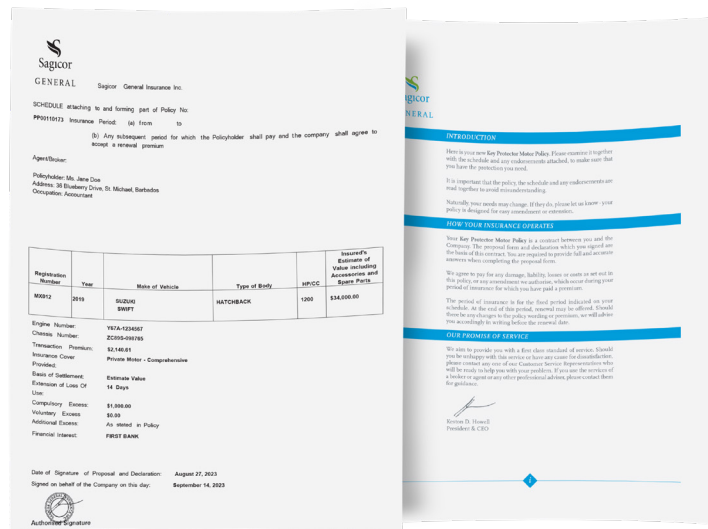

YOUR RESPONSIBILITY IS TO:

1. Be transparent and provide accurate information to enable a fair and accurate assessment of the risk
2. Pay the premium
3. Comply with all the conditions set out in the policy

It is important in the insurance contract that each party meet their obligations to avoid the refusal of a claim.

The Policy & Schedule

The policy is in two parts – (1) The Policy Wording and (2) The Schedule. The Policy Wording explains what is and what is not covered, how claims are settled and other important information. The Schedule shows your details, details of your insurance cover, the period of insurance, and the premium. A new Schedule will be sent whenever a change is made to the insurance so you can check that the cover still meets your needs.

The Renewal

There is no break in insurance cover as long as your policy is renewed, and your chosen coverage remains unchanged.

Sagicor General retains the right to not renew a policy. If we do, we will let you know in advance of your renewal date so that you have enough time to make alternative insurance arrangements.

Why does my renewal premium increase?

The increase on renewal premiums is different for everyone and depends on things like claims history, the risk insured, market conditions and reinsurance costs.

If your premium, excess, benefits or policy terms and conditions do change, we will always provide full details to you before your renewal date.

What is and is not covered?

Insurance policies do not cover everything, so ensure that you carefully read your policy's wording which details all that is covered.

A MATERIAL FACT
IS A KEY PIECE OF INFORMATION
THAT IS VITAL TO UNDERWRITING A
RISK.

What Is General Insurance?

WHAT IS GENERAL INSURANCE?

General insurance focuses on protecting your assets, possessions and businesses against financial loss.

For example, if you suffer from a loss to your home against a natural disaster such as a hurricane or flood the home insurance policy can replace, repair or reinstate your home. That means, you are less likely to spend your savings, borrow money or ask for financial help.

General Insurance policies are annual contracts. However, there are a few products that can be either short-term or long-term.

Some categories of general insurance policies are:

1. Motor Insurance
2. Fire Insurance
3. Marine Insurance
4. Travel Insurance
5. Home Insurance

PRINCIPLES OF INSURANCE

The General Insurance contract is guided by its own principles. The following are those principles which we want to share with you:

1. Insurable Interest
2. Utmost Good Faith or Uberrima Fides
3. Indemnity
4. Proximate Cause
5. Subrogation
6. Contribution
7. Loss Minimization

Do you know the principles of insurance?

Insurable Interest

Simply put, Insurable Interest means that you have a financial stake in the property or item being insured.

For example, if the house you own is damaged by fire, you will suffer financially from its destruction. However, if your neighbour's house is damaged by fire, you may feel sympathetic towards them, but your insurable interest is to your own house, and not your neighbour's.

Utmost Good Faith or Uberrima Fides

When you buy insurance, you promise to tell the truth to the insurance company about everything related to what you want to insure. This is called Utmost Good Faith, which means you must be completely honest and transparent with the insurance company.

For example, if you want to insure your car, you have to tell the insurance company about any accidents or damage the car has had in the past. You also have to tell them if you plan to use the car for business or if someone else will be driving it regularly.

Indemnity

The Principle of Indemnity is applicable to all general insurance policies. Indemnity means the Insurer promises to compensate the Insured, that is, restore them to the same financial position before loss occurred.

The Insured will be compensated only up to the amount of loss suffered and will neither profit nor be disadvantaged by the loss.

The sum insured represents the maximum indemnity under the contract. Examples referred to as Sum Insureds are:

1. The value of a car
2. The value of a house
3. The amount payable in the event of an injury or death

Example: Lee had a shop which caught fire and as a result, the entire building was destroyed.

The shop was insured for $500,000. Lee claimed the $500,000. However, the insurance company's surveyor examined the damage and estimated that the replacement cost was only $400,000.

The insurance company paid $400,000 applying the "principle of indemnity" even though Lee had a policy of $500,000.

Proximate Cause

When something bad happens, there can be many different causes that lead up to it. The Principle of Proximate Cause means an event which is responsible for causing an insured loss.

Consider the following example:

Lana had taken out a Personal Accident insurance policy which covered death by accident. While walking on the road one day, she was hit by a car and rushed to the hospital. Being a person with a weak heart, she could not stand the shock of the event and had a stroke. The insurance company disputed the claim saying it was the weak heart rather than the accident which had caused the stroke. The court ruled that even though the immediate cause was the stroke, the proximate cause was the accident and ordered the insurance company to pay the claim.

Subrogation

When your insurance company pays your claim for loss or damage to your property, that another party is responsible for, the Principle of Subrogation shifts the right to legally pursue (the party who caused the loss) to the Insurer.

Generally, the right of subrogation only arises when the Insurer has paid the Insured. By doing this, the Insurer will seek to recover the compensation (or some of it) from the party responsible. Subrogation must follow the Principle of Indemnity; it prevents the insured from being paid from two sources.

Consider the following example:

Mel was involved in an accident, but she was not at fault. Lucas, the other driver, caused the accident, but he did not have insurance at the time. The insurance company after reviewing the claim assessed the damages at $50,000 and quickly indemnified Mel. Under the insurance contract Mel must be compensated, and under the Principle of Subrogation, the insurer can legally pursue Lucas and recover the money.

Mel was not satisfied with the assessment and took legal action against Lucas. The court agreed with the assessment of $50,000. The insured's right to claim from anywhere else is taken over by the insurer when they paid her claim. If the court did not agree and ordered Lucas to pay $60,000 Mel would only receive an additional $10,000 otherwise she would be making a profit.

Contribution

In insurance, a person or party can insure their property with more than one company. However, at the time of loss, the insured(s) cannot claim the total or same loss from each insurance company. If one insurer pays the loss in full then that insurer can claim their portion from the other insurer. This is referred to as Contribution, where the total settlement will be contributed to different companies in proportion to the sums they insure.

Consider this example:

Michael and his wife insured their home at Kincade Insurance Company and Baxter Insurance Company. The property was insured for $2,000,000 at both companies. Two years later, a huge fire destroyed the entire home. Michael and his wife filed the claim at both companies. Kincade Insurance paid the full claim however Baxter Insurance informs Michael he is not eligible for indemnity as Kincade paid in full. Under the Principle of Contribution, Kincade can recover their proportionate claim from Baxter who is also liable to settle the claim. If Baxter did compensate Michael it would go against the Principle of Indemnity as Michael would be making a profit from the loss.

Loss Minimization

The Principle of Loss Minimization states that the insured must take all necessary steps to control and reduce any losses and save what is left. Just because insurance is in place, the insured must not act irresponsibly during the loss.

Consider the following example:

A hurricane is imminent, Maximus must try his reasonable best to minimise the impact of the hurricane by protecting the windows and doors, storing important contents like jewellery safely, removing flying objects near the home, cutting down overhanging trees, etc. He must not be lazy and indifferent thinking, "Why worry? I have insurance!"

LEARN THE LANGUAGE OF INSURANCE

1. Average
2. Cancellation
3. Hazards (physical, psychological and moral)
4. Lapsed
5. Material Facts
6. Reinstatement
7. Deductible

Average

Can be referred to as:

1. Condition of Average
2. Subject to Average
3. Pro Rata Condition of Average

"Average" is the insurance term used when calculating a payout against a claim where the Sum Insured is less than Current Value.

For Example:

If at the time of loss or damage the Sum Insured does not represent the full replacement cost of your buildings and/or contents, then we will only pay the claim in the same proportion that it was underinsured less any excess/deductible.

Consider the following:

1. The Building actual rebuild value is: $500,000
2. The Building insured rebuild value: $350,000
3. The cost to repair the damage is $200,000

A fire occurs at your home, damaging part of the roof and two bedrooms. The cost to repair the damage is $200,000. However, due to the underinsurance, we will only pay:

$$\frac{\text{Sum Insured} \times \text{Amount of the Loss}}{\text{Actual Replacement Cost}} = \text{Amount Payable}$$

Or

$$\frac{$350,000 \times $200,000}{$500,000} = $140,000$$

Considering the above, you have become your own insurer for the difference of $60,000, bearing a ratable proportion of the loss (i.e. your part of the claim amount).

Cancellation

Insurance coverage may be cancelled by the Insured at any time by written notice. It may also be cancelled by the Insurers through registered or certified mail or verified communication stating the time (after notification) when the cancellation will be effective.

Based on the type of cancellation, an Insured may be entitled to a refund on the unused portion of the total premium paid. This unused premium is commonly referred to as the unearned premium. This means:

- If the Insurer cancels the policy, they will retain a proportion of the premium
- If the Insurer cancels the policy, they will retain a pro-rated proportion of the premium

Hazards

Moral hazards are hidden behaviours that a person demonstrates with the purchase of insurance or when excessive coverage is sought.

Physical hazards are hidden dangers of a risk to be insured which can be ascertained or identified by mere inspection of the risk.

Psychological hazards are hidden tendencies that exist when an individual unconsciously behaves in such a way as to engender losses. Some persons are said to be "accident-prone" because they have far more than their share of accidents.

Lapsed

A policy is considered lapsed at the expiry of the renewal when no instruction, confirmation, or payment is received from the Insured. Although most insurers provide a grace period, the period is limited to 30 days before becoming lapsed. A lapsed policy is not a cancelled policy.

Sometimes, these actions may be referred to as cancelled but the policy has really "lapsed.;" and a lapsed policy is not effective.

Material Facts

A material fact is a key piece of information that is vital to underwriting a risk. This means that it is necessary for the Insured or proposer to disclose all known information of the risk.

Material facts influence the underwriter's decision to determine:

1. The type of cover
2. The premium that will be charged
3. The level of risk or class of insurance that the insurance company may be willing to offer
4. Decline the risk

If it is deemed that a material fact was withheld, it may be grounds to terminate the policy, nullify the contract or the policy may not operate fully.

Reinstatement

Reinstatement in insurance also means a previously terminated policy can resume if the insured meets the specific requirements.

For example, the Insured pays an overdue premium for a lapsed policy.

It also applies to situations where the insured had filed a claim and the terms of which the insurance policy will reset after the claim occurs.

Deductible

A deductible is the amount of a claim that you, as the policyholder, is responsible to pay out of your own pocket.

For example, if you have a claim for $15,000 with a deductible of $500, you'll pay $500, and the insurer will settle the difference.

Excess

Excess is the uninsured portion of a claim that you, as the policyholder, must pay.

For example, your car is insured for $20,000 and the excess on that car is 2% of the value insured. So, your excess will be 2% of $20,000 which equals to $400.

Note: Your excess or deductible can be expressed as a percentage or a fixed dollar value.

You're Safer With Us By Your Side.

At the most basic level, motor insurance is a legal requirement for every vehicle owner. However, don't make the mistake of thinking all motor insurance policies are created equally.

At Sagicor General, you'll find that our policies and support systems were created with your needs in mind. You'll have peace of mind knowing that we're always by your side, protecting you or your vehicle in the event of an accident. Your Sagicor General policy will cover damage or injury caused by you or someone else you authorised to drive your vehicle. The first step is understanding what your coverage offers you.

The exact cost of your coverage is calculated according to several factors covered in your driver profile (including age, driving experience and driving history) and your vehicle profile (including its type, use, engine size and value).

Some factors, such as high-performance engines, young or inexperienced drivers, vehicles used to transport goods or passengers, and expensive or unusual vehicles may cause your insurance company to charge a higher premium.

There are three options:

Third-Party Fire & Theft

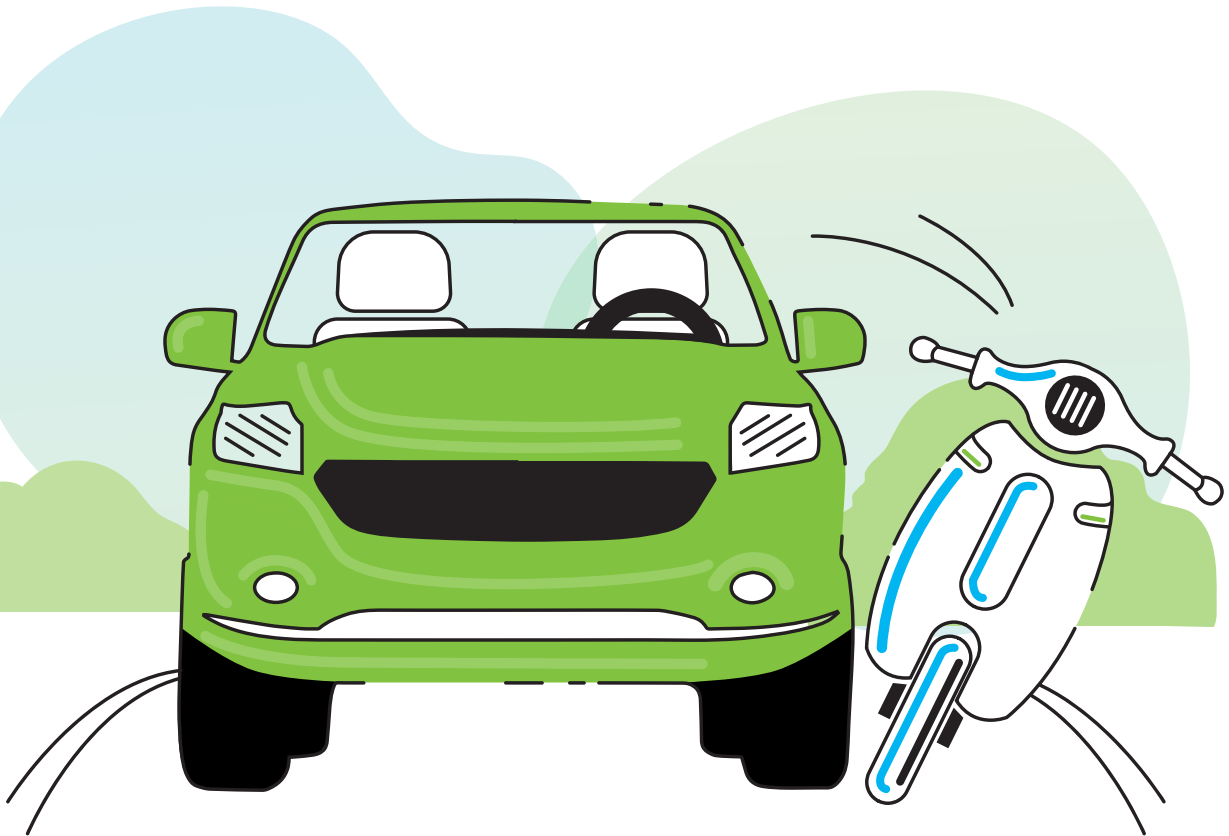

Comprehensive

Third-Party Only Insurance

Third-Party Only Insurance is a basic coverage which is the minimum amount of coverage required by law. It covers you for the cost of claims for injury to another person or damage to another vehicle or someone else's property. It, however, does not cover loss or damage to your own vehicle or property.

Benefits of Third-Party Only Insurance:

1. No excess is applicable
2. Towing after an accident if the vehicle is disabled

You're not alone when there's an accident on the road. Consider how you're protected with Third-Party Only Coverage in these two scenarios.

In the event that someone hits you, we will try to obtain liability from the other person's insurance company and then forward all required documents to the insurance company for their review and settlement of the same.

2.

If you are the one to hit someone's vehicle, Sagicor General will fix the other person or third party vehicle and you will have to pay to fix your own car.

Third-Party Fire & Theft Insurance

Third-Party Fire & Theft Insurance covers you for loss or damage to your vehicle resulting from fire, explosion, self-ignition, lightning or burglary and theft. You are also covered against injuries to other persons or damage to their property. You are not covered for loss or damage to your own vehicle or property resulting from an accident or collision.

Benefits of Third-Party Fire & Theft Insurance:

1. Towing after an accident if the vehicle is disabled

Step 4: Submit Your Claim

Key Things To Keep In Mind

1. Do not instruct the commencement of repairs to the vehicle before allowing Sagicor General or a representative access the damages.
2. Your policy Excess or Deductible is typically payable once you are making a claim.
3. The cost of an estimate is not covered by your policy.
4. Claim Settlement methods: the insurer can either issue payment to you for the amount it will cost to repair your vehicle, or make a direct payment to the garage you have chosen to carry out the repairs on your vehicle.
5. Early submission of your valid driver's license is very important to the progression of the claim.

REMEMBER!

Do not accept liability for damages even if you think that you are at fault. This will be done by your insurer after a thorough assessment of the circumstances surrounding the accident and guided by the Road Traffic Act and Regulations and any other applicable laws.

Key Things To Keep In Mind

When making a travel claim, it's crucial to be aware of the conditions or exclusions listed in your policy that could impact your claim eligibility.

1. Familiarise yourself with the terms and conditions of your travel policy. Each policy may have different limits and exclusions.
2. Collect and keep all relevant documents related to your trip and expenses. This includes but may not be limited to receipts, boarding passes, itineraries, medical reports (if applicable), police reports (if applicable), and any other supporting evidence that will serve as proof for your claim.
3. Most policies have exclusions or limitations regarding pre-existing medical conditions.
4. You must not be travelling against the advice of a doctor or specifically going on the trip to receive medical treatment.
5. Always carry jewellery, money, travel tickets, passport, and such like documents in your carry-on luggage.
6. Most policies have limits on the coverage for valuable items like electronics, jewellery, or money. If you are carrying such items, check if your policy provides adequate coverage and if necessary, consider additional insurance by specifying the item and its value.

REMEMBER!

Certain adventurous or high-risk activities may not be covered under a standard travel policy.

Thank you for taking the time to explore our “book of general insurance wisdom”. We hope that the information provided has been both enlightening and valuable in demystifying the complexities of insurance.
